This intensive program includes practicum hours in partnership with local ESL programs. All forms of SPU sponsored educational activities that occur off-campus are subject to the same standards of conduct and academic performance as opportunities that occur on campus. SPU recognizes that off-campus learning opportunities may present unique circumstances, however, participants are expected to maintain behavior consistent with the Seattle Pacific University behavioral community expectations, maintain academic performance consistent with SPU's standards, observe rules and expectations of program partners, and behave in a manner that protects their safety and that of others.

Participants may request on-campus housing accommodations during the program by contacting Conference Services: conferenceservices@spu.edu. Participants are responsible for all arrangements and costs associated with campus housing. The Center for Professional Education is not involved in the coordination of housing or meals.
